The Prayer of the Constantinian Order

Almighty and Merciful Father, King of kings and Lord of lords, in Your immeasurable goodness You have called me into the ranks of the Sacred Military Constantinian Order of Saint George, Your Knight and Martyr. May I never cease to emulate our heavenly patron and with alacrity follow in the footsteps of Your Only-begotten Son, Who is our Alpha and Omega, our Beginning and End.

Impress, O Lord, upon my heart the Sign of Your Holy Cross, and grant that I may bear it honourably and dutifully, in total fealty to You and to the One, Holy, Catholic, Apostolic and Roman Church, and to the Vicar of your Son. Bless our Grand Master, His Family and Household, and all our Knights and Dames. Imbue me, moreover, with the particular grace of preserving in diligent charity toward my neighbour, and especially to the sick, the needy, and the abandoned.

All this, Heavenly Father, I beg by the power of the Most Holy Cross upon which throne He Who is the Way, the Truth, and the Life did reign, and to Whom with You in the life-giving Holy Spirit be ascribed all honour, glory and power, sovereignty and blessing both now and forevermore. Amen.

Most Holy Mother, Virgin most compassionate, who did stand at the Foot of the Cross, pray for us that we may be made worthy of the fruits of Your Son's Passion, Death and Resurrection.

Saint George, Knight and Martyr, may your sacred witness strengthen and inspire us to be generous in the service of the Most Holy Cross, in whose Sign alone can we conquer.

History of the Delegation in Great Britain

For centuries, British citizens have been invested into the Orders of the Royal House of the Two Sicilies. Admiral Lord Nelson was invested as a Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Order of Saint Ferdinand and Merit in 1798. Another early recipient of this Order was the Neapolitan Prime Minister Sir John Acton who was already a Knight of the Illustrious Royal Order of Saint Januarius.

The first known British subject to be invested into the Sacred Military Constantinian Order of Saint George was Lieutenant Colonel John Pritchard in 1798. Captain Sir William D'Arley was also invested in 1801, receiving the decoration from King Ferdinand I of the Two Sicilies. In the same year, he obtained a Royal Licence from King George III of Great Britain which permitted him to be styled as "Sir William" and to wear the Order's decoration at Court.

In 1810, Sir John Carr was invested into the Order's ranks. Several members of the Winspeare and Acton families, who had close ties to the Royal Neapolitan Court, were invested in the middle of the nineteenth century. In 1883, the industrialist and inventor, Sir Edward Thomason, was invested into the Order's ranks.

In the first 75 years of the 20th century the Anglo-Neapolitan families of Acton and Winspeare were again the mainstay of British members of the Sacred Military Constantinian Order of St George. Sir Harold Acton, famous for his two-volume history of the Bourbons of Naples, became a Constantinian knight.

In the early 1970s some prominent members of the British and Polish Associations of the Order of Malta decided to establish a national association for the Constantinian Order in Britain and Ireland. In 1975 the premier baron of England, Lord Mowbray, Segrave and Stourton, was elected as its president and remained in office until 2000.

Among those invested during this time were three presidents of the British Association of the Order of Malta including Major-General Viscount Monckton of Brenchley, Sir Peter Hope and Captain Peregrine Bertie. Other members included HE The Ven Bailiff Frá Anthony Furness (the first solemnly professed Knight of Justice of the Order of Malta in England since the Reformation) and the future Garter King of Arms Sir Conrad Swan and John Brooke-Little, later Clarenceux King of Arms.

Among activities undertaken by the Delegation in the early years were the publication of the first history of the Order in English entitled 'Italy's Knights of St George: The Constantinian Order' by Desmond Seward, the attendance of many British and Irish knights and dames at the State Funeral of the last monarchs of the Two Sicilies, King Francis II and Queen Sofia in the Basilica of Santa Chiara in Naples in 1984, and a ground breaking exhibition on the art and civilisation under the Bourbons in southern Italy, created and presented at the Neapolitan museums of Capodimonte and San Martino and at the Detroit Institute of Art in the USA.

HE Archbishop Luigi Barbarito was invested into the Constantinian Order in 1986 at the start of his eleven year term as Apostolic Nuncio to the Court of St James's. The Rt Rev Mgr Adrian Arrowsmith, Canon of Westminster Cathedral, became the new Prior of the delegation and, when Rector of the Church of Our Lady of Victories in Kensington (which served as pro-Cathedral for over 30 years before Westminster Cathedral was completed), placed a special chapel at the disposal of the knights and dames. The chapel contains an interesting plaque marking the fact.

Members of the old recusant families were also invested including in 1985 HMEH Frà Andrew Bertie, 78th Grand Master of the Order of Malta. In 1987, Lord Hailsham of Saint Marylebone, then Lord Chancellor was invested as a medallist of the Constantinian Order.

The Delegation and its activities grew considerably further from 2000 onwards under delegates Lord Belhaven and Stenton (2000-2003), Sir Anthony Bailey, GCNG, KGCN, OBE (2003-2006, 2012-) and Lord Brennan of Bibury QC (2006-2009).

The delegation membership in Britain today includes royalty, peers of the realm, judges and lawyers, members of parliament, authors, charity workers, diplomats, businessmen, ministers, civil leaders, interfaith campaigners, military leaders and senior clergy. Among them are the current Grand Master of the Order of Malta, HMEH Frà Matthew Festing, HSH Princess Marie-Therese von Hohenberg Lady Bailey, Sister Ellen Flynn of the Passage Homeless Centre, the Dowager Marchioness of Salisbury (medallist), the Duchess of Norfolk, the current and former Chief Ministers of Gibraltar the Hon Fabian Picardo and Sir Peter Caruana, QC, the Lord High Constable of Scotland, the Earl of Erroll (medallist), former Chief of the Defence Staff Field Marshal the Lord Guthrie of Craigiebank, Secretary General of the Commonwealth of Nations and former Attorney General HE Alderman The Rt Hon Baroness Scotland of Asthal, QC, Professor Lord Alton of Liverpool, Chief Executive of the St John Eye Hospital in Jerusalem Brigadier Thomas Ogilvie-Graham, several ambassadors accredited to the Court of St James's and former MP, pro-life campaigner and entertainer Ann Widdecombe.

The senior dame of the Delegation in Britain is HRH Princess Michael of Kent who was invested into the Constantinian Order in 1996.

His Eminence Cormac, Cardinal Murphy-O'Connor is the Prior of the British and Irish Delegation and His Grace the Most Rev George Stack, Archbishop of Cardiff, is the Sub-Prior. The current Archbishop of Westminster, His Eminence Vincent, Cardinal Nichols, is a longstanding member, having been invested into the Order in 1990 and later promoted in grade in 2000 and 2014. In 2012 HE Archbishop Antonio Mennini was invested into the Order at the start of his term as Apostolic Nuncio to the Court of St James's.

Within the Royal Order of Francis I, which is not exclusively Roman Catholic in nature, are foreign royalty, a former prime minister, charity workers, artists, cabinet ministers, barristers, academics, inter-faith leaders, businessmen and members of parliament.

Among them are two former Archbishops of Canterbury, Lord Williams of Oystermouth, and Lord Carey of Clifton, the Greek Orthodox Archbishop Gregorios of Thyateira and Great Britain and Syrian Orthodox Archbishop Athanasius Toma Dawod, Vivian Wineman, former President of the Board of Deputies of British Jews, inter-faith leader Sir Sigmund Sternberg, HRH The Princess Elena of Romania, HRH Princess Katarina of Yugoslavia, The Duke of Westminster, Lord Denman, Lord Lingfield, chef Albert Roux, as well as a number of current and past Ambassadors and High Commissioners accredited to the Court of St James's including Italy, Ireland, Poland, Colombia, Hungary, Albania, Kosovo, Andorra and the Holy See. The former Prime Minister Baroness (Margaret) Thatcher was also a member.

The current British and Irish delegate is HE Sir Anthony Bailey, GCNG, KGCN, OBE, who simultaneously serves as the Order's worldwide Magistral Delegate for Inter-Religious Relations, Secretary General of the Royal Order of Francis I and Deputy of the Royal Deputation within the Grand Magistracy in Rome. He is supported by a Council, which is elected every three years. The Vice-Delegate for England is HE Alderman The Rt Hon Baroness Scotland of Asthal, QC, the Vice-Delegate for Scotland is Field Marshal The Lord Guthrie of Craigiebank, the Vice-Delegate for Wales is The Rt Hon Lord Murphy of Torfaen and the Vice-Delegate for Gibraltar is the Hon Sir Peter Caruana, QC.

The Delegation in Great Britain has supported numerous charities and organisations over the years including the Passage Homeless Centre, St Thomas Fund, Westminster Cathedral, Blind Veterans UK (St Dunstan's), the Council of Christians and Jews, the Schola of the London Oratory School, Tyburn Convent and Shrine, the Apostolic Nunciature, the All-Party Parliamentary Pro-Life Group within the British Parliament, Co-Operation Ireland, Forthspring Inter-Community Group, St Peter's Italian Church in London, Stroke Association, Fr Peter McVerry Trust in Dublin and many international charitable and humanitarian initiatives of the Grand Magistracy in Rome.

History of the Delegation in Ireland

Over the last century there have been numerous knights and dames invested into the Constantinian Order from the island of Ireland including members of the old Gaelic nobility, the Order of Malta and the clergy as well as parliamentarians, leading businessmen and academics.

The first known Irishman to be invested into the Order was Benedict Hervey, a Jacobite living in exile in Naples, who was appointed a Knight of Grace in 1728. His son Charles was also invested as a Knight Grand Cross of Grace in 1759. William Power, also of Irish Jacobite origin, and a friend of Count O'Mahony (a Knight of Illustrious Royal Order of St Januarius) were made a Knight of Grace in 1750. Another important Irish knight was General Balthasar Nihell who was admitted in 1762 as a Knight of Justice and later promoted to Knight Grand Cross of Justice in 1785.

The late Denis O'Connor Don, Head of the House of Connaught, and descendant of the dynasty that ruled as High Kings of Ireland until the Anglo-Norman conquest at the end of the twelfth century, was a member. In 2004 Professor Mary McAleese, President of Ireland, was awarded the Collar of the Constantinian Order at a ceremony at Aras an Uachtaráin, and Taoiseach (Prime Minister) Bertie Ahern, TD, then President of the European Council, was also honoured.

The Vice-Delegate for Ireland is the former Taoiseach HE John Bruton. Other past and present members include former Irish Senator and Vice-Delegate Emeritus Professor Richard Conroy, the former Lieutenant of the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre Michael Joseph McDonnell, former Ambassador of Ireland to the Court of James's and the United Nations in Geneva HE Dáithí O'Ceallaigh, former Secretary of State for Northern Ireland the Rt Hon Lord Murphy of Torfaen, the President of the Association of Papal Orders in Ireland Professor Vincent McBrierty, the Association's former president Donal Downes and its chancellor James McDonald and many other noteworthy individuals.

Numerous members of the Irish Association of the Order of Malta have been members of the delegation including former vice president Patrick White and former chancellors Sean Kevin Cunnane and John Igoe.

The Order's Chief Chaplain for Ireland is the Archbishop Emeritus of Dublin, His Eminence Desmond, Cardinal Connell, who was invested into the Constantinian Order in November 2002. The Most Rev Dr Raymond Field, Auxiliary Bishop of Dublin, is a chaplain of the Delegation. Current Irish knights of the Royal Order of Francis I include businessman Sir Michael Smurfit, the former Speaker of the Northern Ireland Assembly, Lord Alderdice of Knock, former Irish Senator Donal Lydon and Judge Patrick Clyne.

Across the island of Ireland, numerous charitable initiatives have been adopted and supported. In Northern Ireland the Forthspring Inter-Community Group in Belfast and Co-operation Ireland which both work to bridge the divided communities in the province, have been supported by the Delegation. In the Irish Republic, the DePaul Trust of Ireland and Citywise, which seeks to educate children and teenagers who have dropped out of society, are among the charitable bodies which have been supported by the Delegation.

The Delegation of Great Britain and Ireland observes the Order's feast days, particularly the Feast of Saint George (23 April), and the Exaltation of the Holy Cross (14 September).
